Welcome to Civil Air Patrol's 2022 National Conference!

Following the success of our over 7,500-registrant virtual conference held in 2021, we were excited to announce the 2022 Civil Air Patrol National Conference returning to an in-person format, on August 25-27 in Louisville, Kentucky.

The 2021 National Conference hosted 140 professional development sessions for our members, as well as opportunities to meet and network and learn from such nationally regarded luminaries as Robbie Bach former Xbox CEO and NY Times best-selling author Malcolm Gladwell. We are looking forward to announcing an equally exciting slate of speakers and you will be among the first to hear their names.

As the world continues to emerge from the pandemic, we understand the need for in-person connection and direct communication while keeping safety front of mind. Closer to the event we will have more guidance on safety protocols and look forward to welcoming back attendees.

The national in-person conference provides prime professional development opportunities for more than 750 volunteer members to advance in their leadership skills and knowledge of our missions and technology. As always, our goal is for participants to connect, learn and celebrate.

Our 2022 event has opportunities for you, as a sponsor, to interact in new and meaningful ways and showcase your brand as you work to promote your business and serve as an important partner for our work.

Included in this packet is the CAP Fact Sheet. Additionally, we have listed all the sponsor benefits available for each level, with new benefits added to maximize your brand recognition.

You can help us fulfill our new mission of “Volunteers serving America’s communities, saving lives and shaping futures” by showcasing your organization and engaging with our members and partners from across the nation.

The fun and festivities begin with an opening reception then launch into a full slate of programming with opportunities to meet with CAP leaders, hear from keynote speakers, engage in educational sessions and network in-person through the robust exhibit hall on-site.

We encourage you to reserve your space and look forward to seeing you in Kentucky for a truly outstanding conference.

Warm regards,
