

TEAMWORK for PERFORMANCE

How do you get a group to become a team?

1

CHARACTERISTICS of TEAMS

A wide-angle photograph of a busy shopping mall during the Christmas season. The scene is filled with people, many of whom are on a double escalator in the foreground. The mall is decorated with red and white Christmas ornaments, garlands, and large circular lights. In the background, there are displays for Lancôme and other retail stores. The overall atmosphere is festive and crowded.

A COMMON GOAL?

YOU HAVE TO CHANGE

Star Trek © Paramount 2009

DISCIPLINE

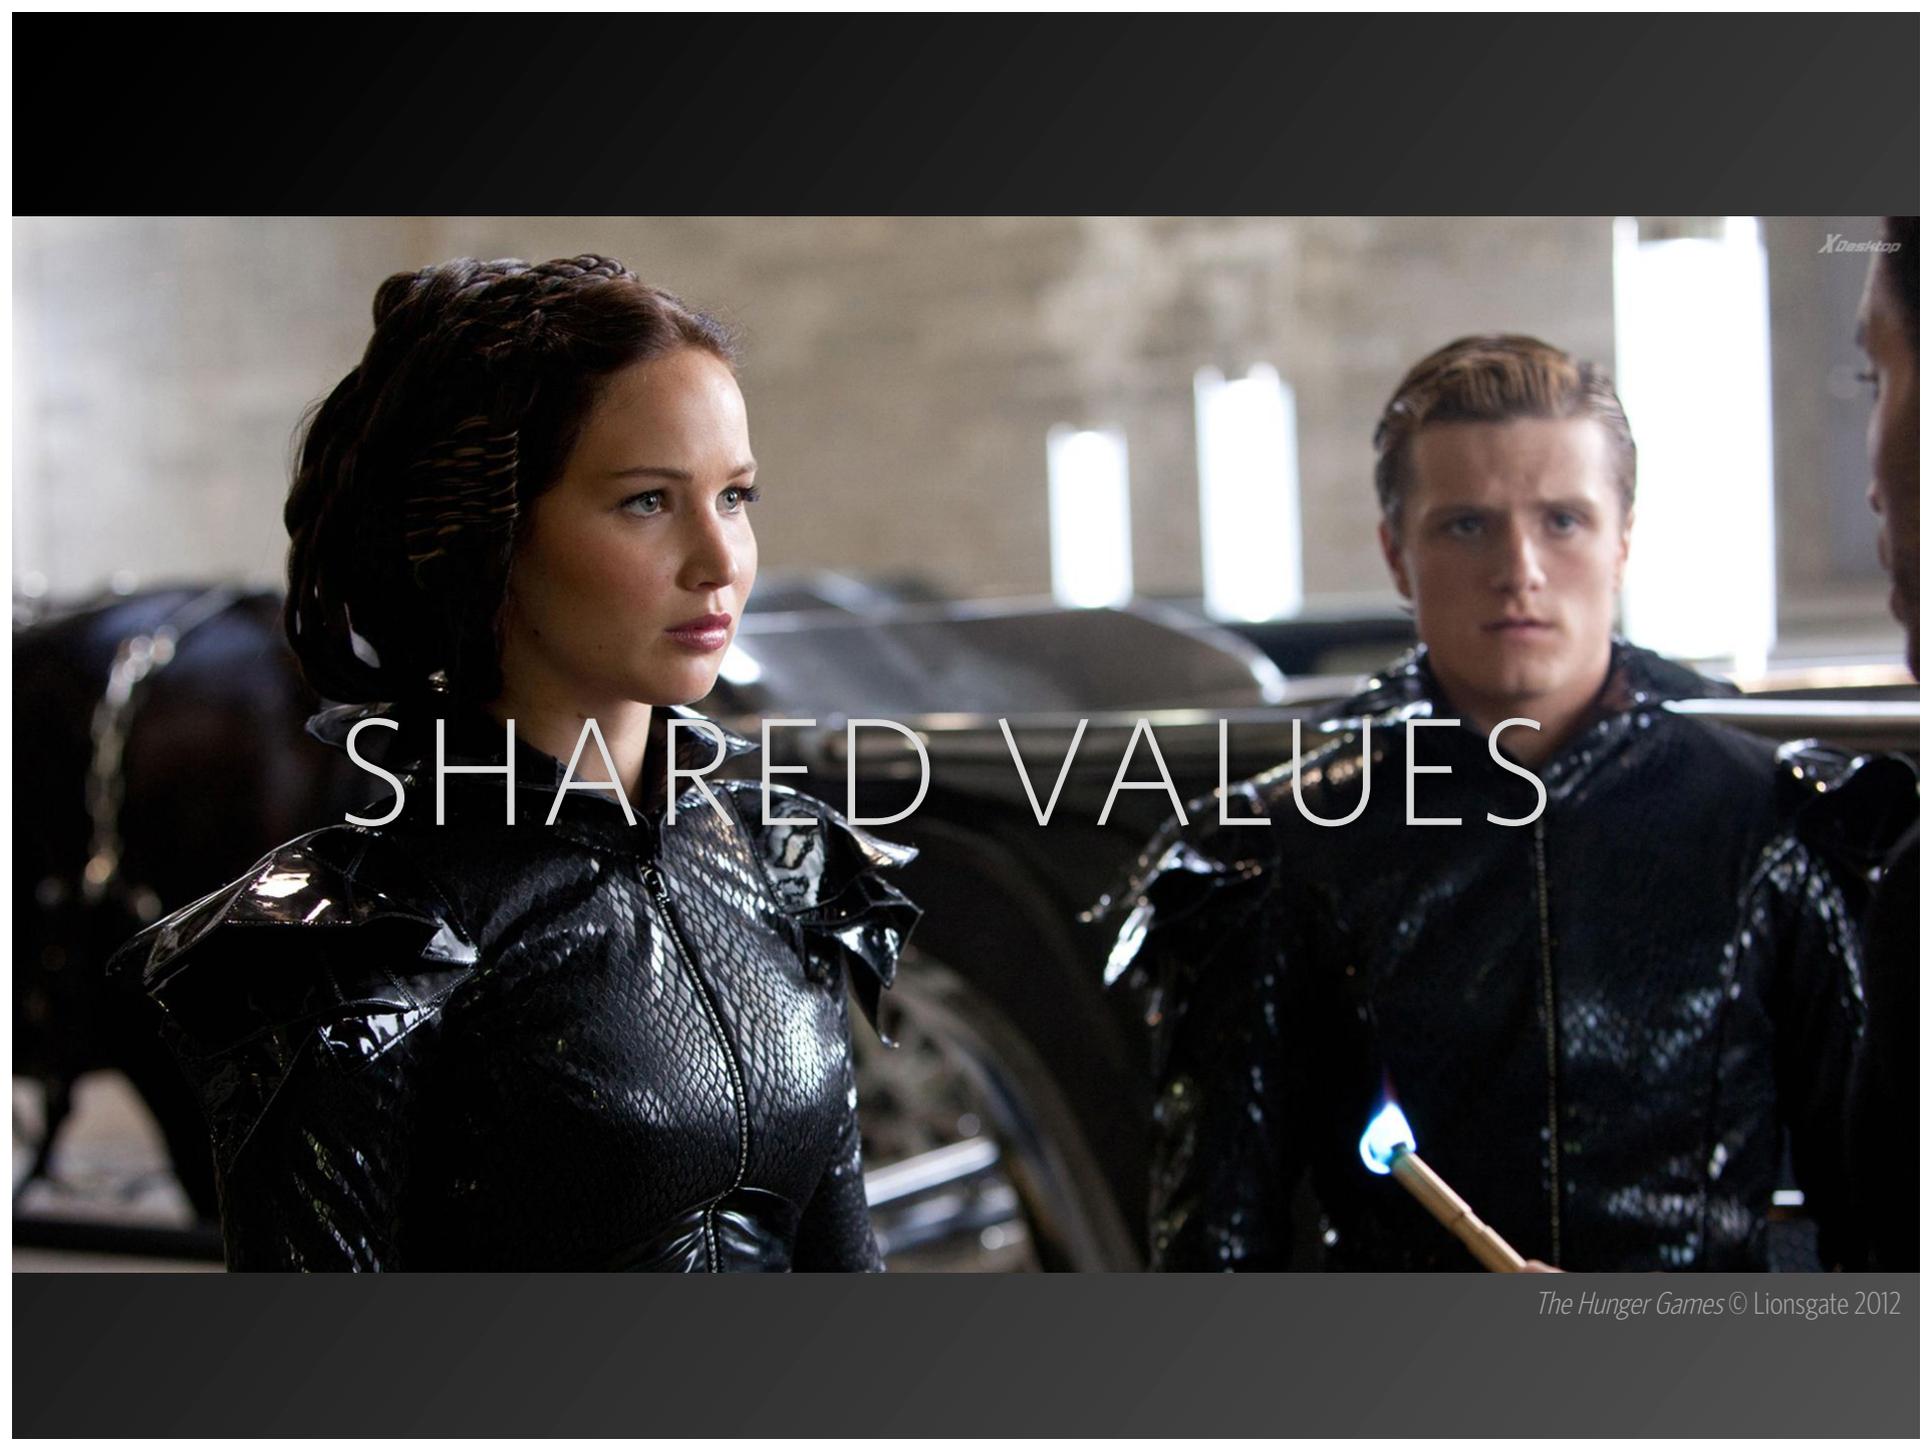

Top Gun © Paramount 1986

ACTIVE COOPERATION

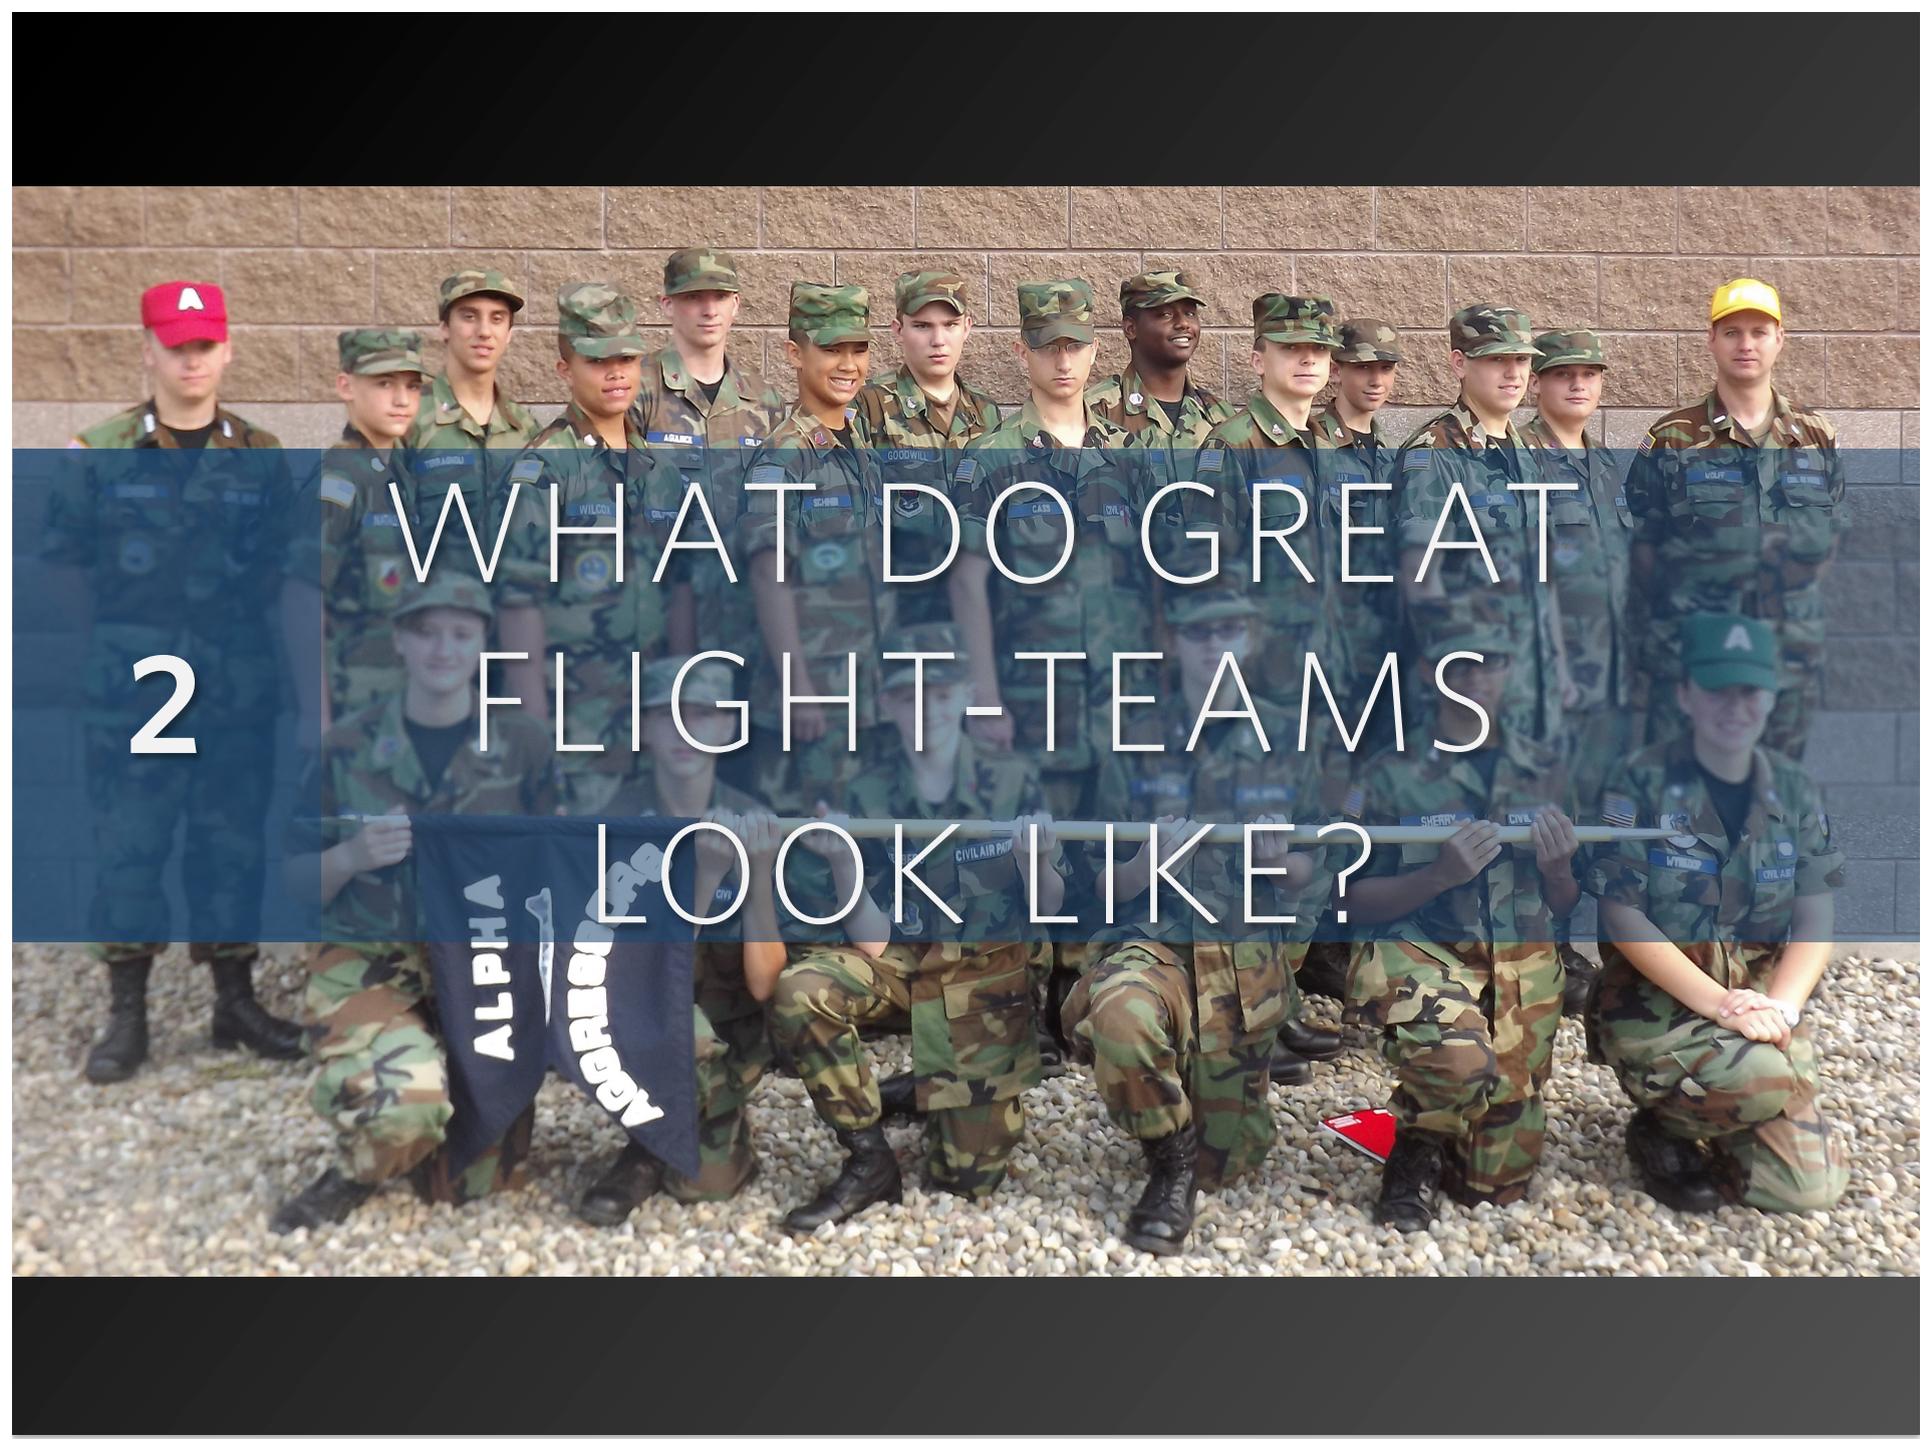

COMMUNICATION

SHARED VALUES

LOYALTY

2 WHAT DO GREAT FLIGHT-TEAMS LOOK LIKE?

Flights that are teams

quiz each other

check each other's uniforms

specialize & divide the labor for inspections

invent their own jodies

hang out at meals

pass the word

police their own

listen well at TLPs

cheer on mates

fix problems, not blame

truly use their wingmen

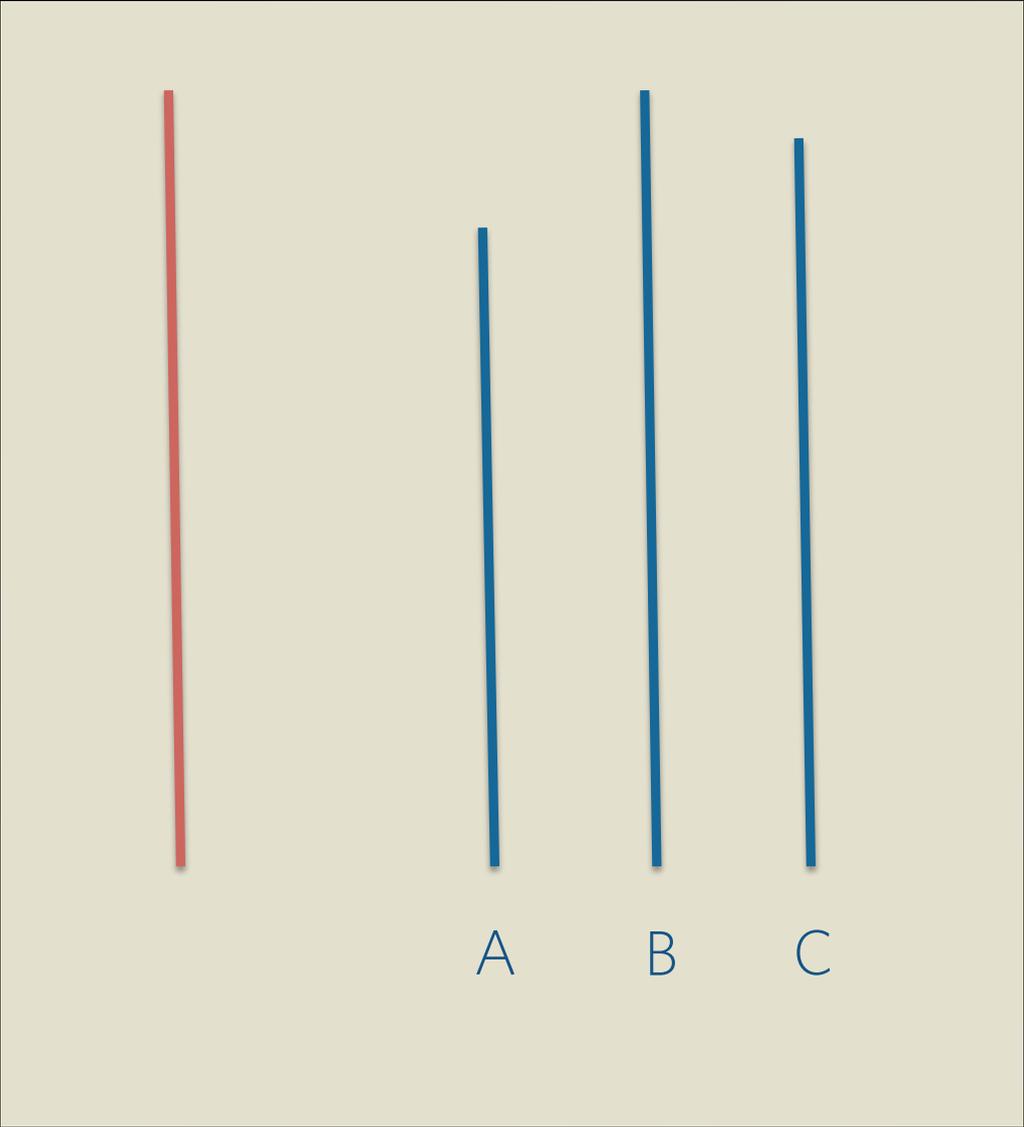

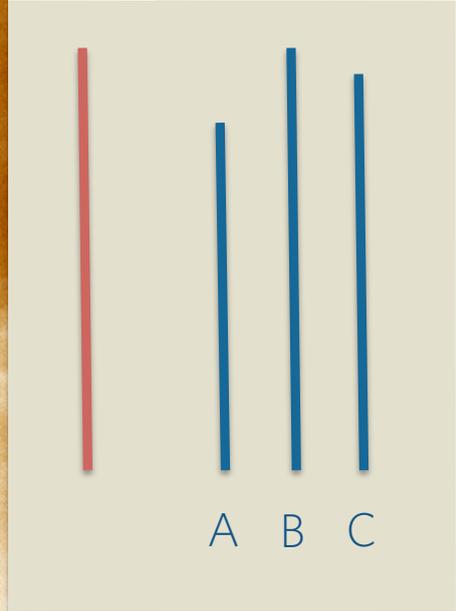

3

CHALLENGES

FREE RIDERS

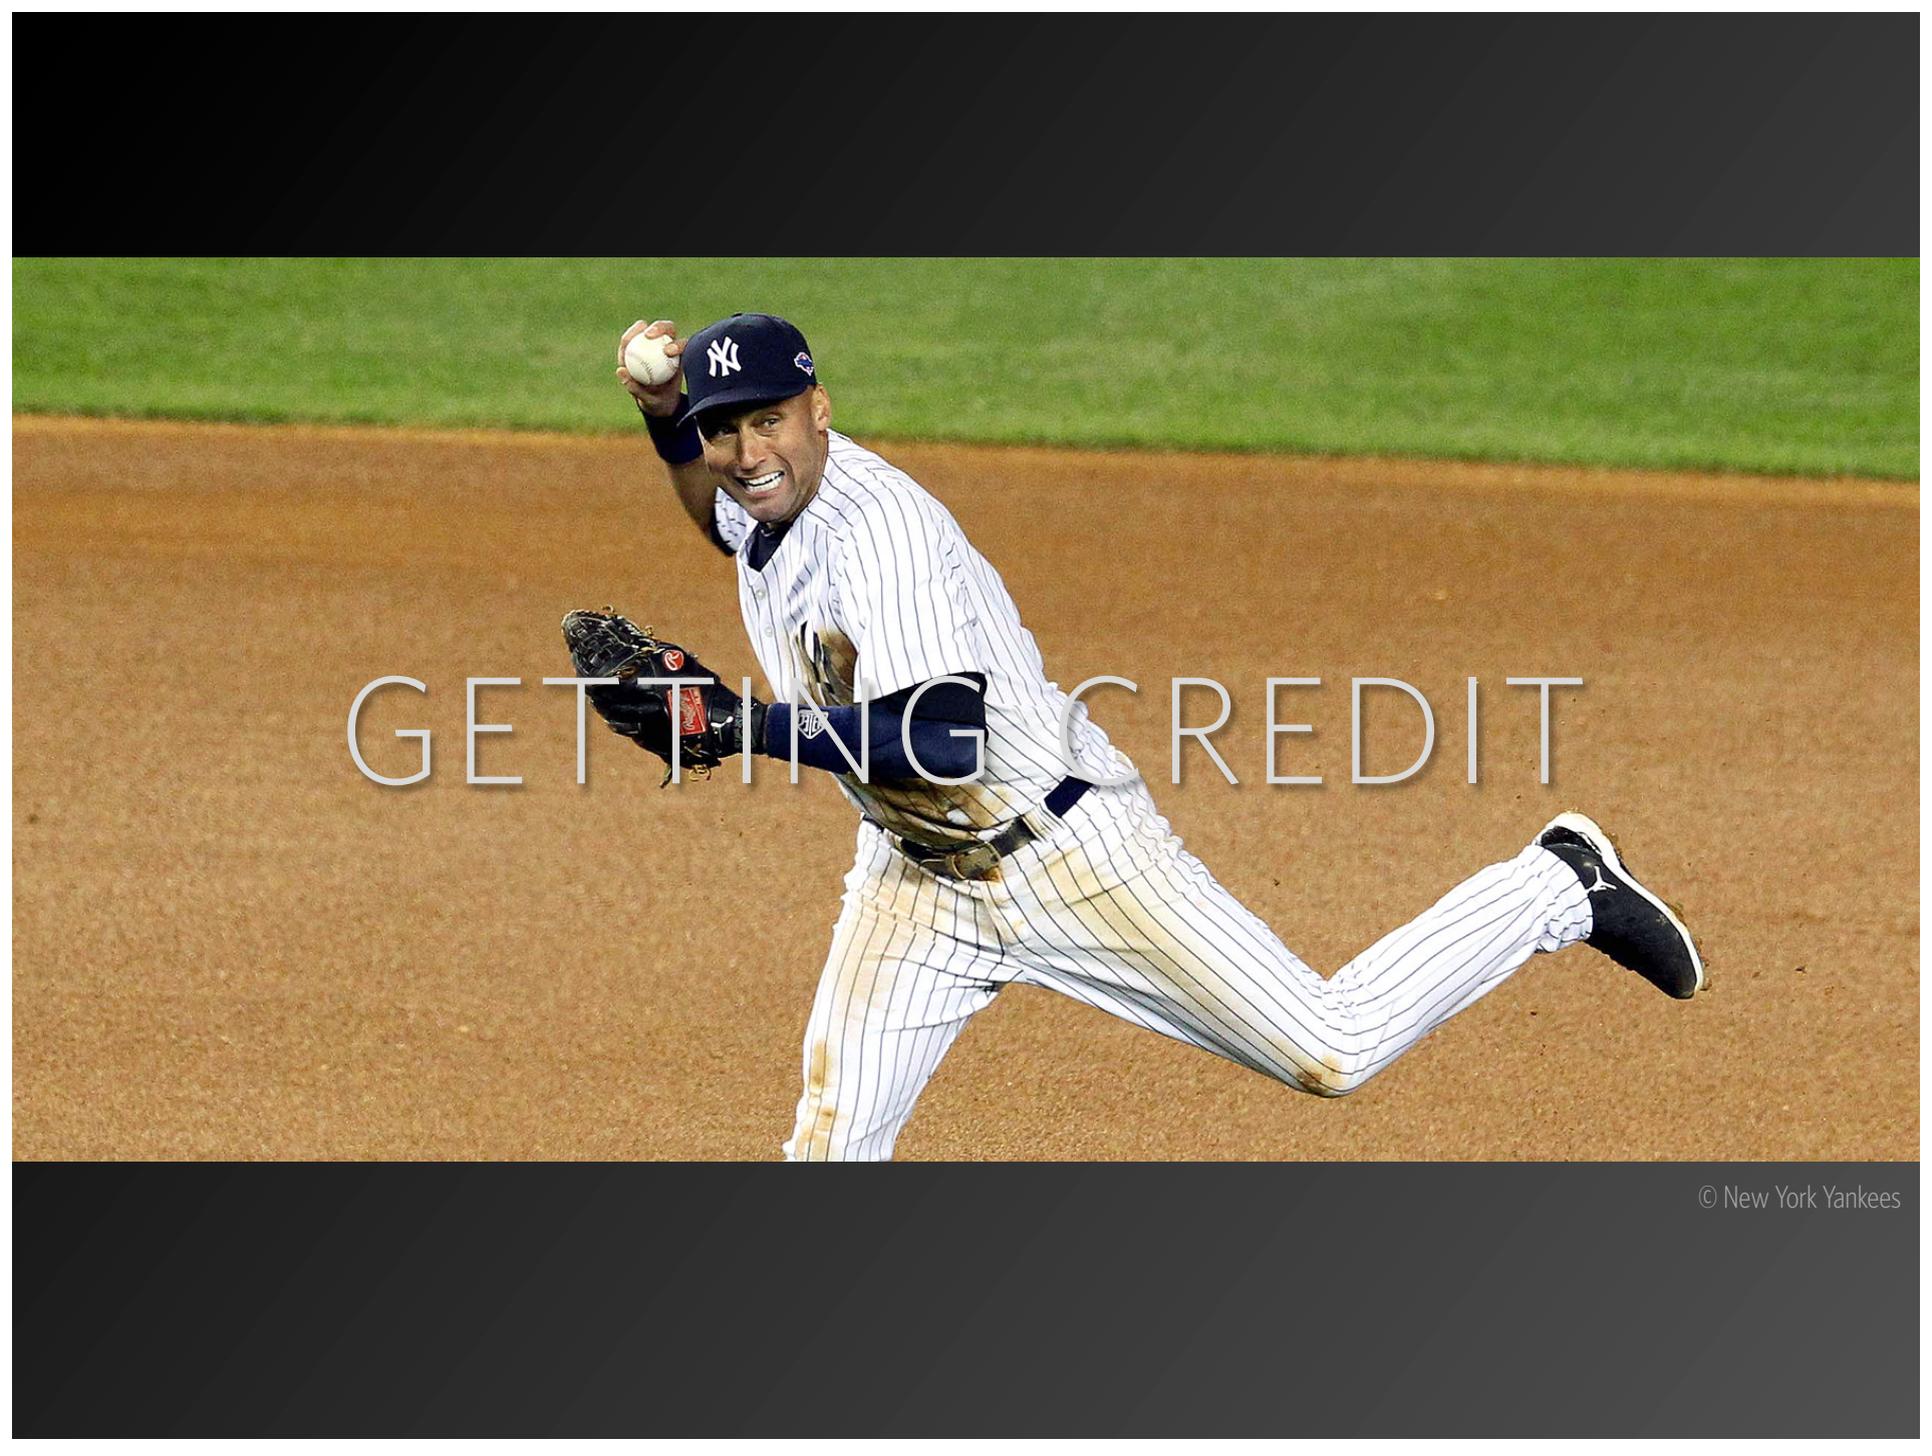

HERD MENTALITY

A close-up portrait of Sherlock Holmes, played by Benedict Cumberbatch, looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. He is wearing a dark grey coat and a blue scarf. The background is a narrow, dimly lit alleyway between brick buildings, with sunlight filtering through a window on the right, creating strong shadows and highlights. The overall mood is mysterious and intense.

INTROVERTS

GETTING CREDIT

BEYOND the CALL of DUTY

